Introduction

Overview

The Social Work Program at Mississippi State University is accredited by the Council on Social Work Education. Social work is a challenging and rewarding profession with the primary goal of enhancing individual functioning and promoting human rights and social and economic justice. The Bachelor of Social Work graduate is prepared to pursue graduate social work education or to work as a generalist social work practitioner in a variety of practice settings. These include, but are not limited to the following: child welfare service agencies, family services, medical hospitals, mental health clinics, public health clinics, home health agencies, nursing homes, industries, juvenile and family court, shelters for battered women and children, and neighborhood and community services.

The Social Work curriculum is grounded in a liberal arts perspective. This liberal arts perspective enhances the person-in-environment focus of generalist social work practice. According to the National Association of Social Workers (NASW), professional social workers assist individuals, families, groups, and/or communities to restore or enhance their capacity for social functioning, while creating societal conditions favorable to their goals. The practice of social work requires knowledge of human development and behavior, of social, economic and cultural institutions, and of the interaction of all these factors.

Brief History

The Social Work Program at Mississippi State University was granted permission to offer a baccalaureate social work degree (BSW) in December 1989, by the Board of the Institutions of Higher Learning. The Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) granted candidacy status to the Starkville campus program in June 1992. The Social Work Program was granted initial accreditation effective fall 1995.

In February 2000, the Social Work Program’s accreditation status was reaffirmed through June 2008. In June 2008, CSWE reaffirmed the Social Work Program’s accreditation status through June 2016. Reaffirmation was again successful through 2024.

Social Work

Social Work: Is It For You?

You are encouraged to discuss your questions and concerns about the social work profession with social work students, graduates, employers, and faculty. Consider visiting the MSU Career Center at https://www.career.msstate.edu/ for assistance in defining your career goals and visiting relevant professional websites, such as the National Association of Social Workers at https://www.socialworkers.org/ and the Council on Social Work Education at https://www.cswe.org/ to obtain more information. The following questions may facilitate an awareness of your interest, desire, and commitment to social work:

1. Are you interested in improving society?
2. Do you believe in the worth of each person in society, regardless of cultural, physical, racial, social, economic or sexual differences?
3. Do you get along well with people, viewing conflicts as challenges?
4. Are you patient, persistent, genuine, responsible, and resourceful?
5. Are you interested in personal growth and learning ways to effectively evaluate interactions with others?
6. Are you interested in learning the interactions of various systems and how they impact individuals?
7. Are you interested in continuous growth and being a part of a recognized profession?

Affirmative answers to these questions serve as the basis of the Social Work Program at Mississippi State University.

National Association of Social Workers

The National Association of Social Workers (NASW) Code of Ethics further reinforces the important professional roles that social workers have in society. Teaching the NASW Code of Ethics is an integral part of the Social Work Program at Mississippi State University. The entire NASW code of ethics may be found at https://www.socialworkers.org/About/Ethics/Code-of-Ethics/Code-of-Ethics-English

Definition of Generalist Social Work Practice

The MSU Social Work Program recognizes that generalist social work practice must be grounded in the following professional values: service, social justice, dignity and worth of the person, importance of human relationships, integrity, and competence. Generalist social work education at MSU incorporates the primary content areas regarding fields of practice through course content and community engagement: values and ethics, diversity, populations at risk and social and economic justice, human behavior and the social environment, social welfare policy and services, social work practice, research, and field education. Generalist social work practitioners at the undergraduate level may assume a wide range of professional roles but typically work under supervision. They apply critical thinking skills and evaluate their service outcomes. With these issues in mind, MSU embraces the following definition of generalist social work practice:

Generalist social work practitioners apply an eclectic knowledge base and a range of skills, grounded in a strengths perspective and using a planned change process with a focus on empowerment, to target systems of any size in a variety of settings.

Mission Statements

Mississippi State University

Mississippi State University is a public, land-grant university whose mission is to provide access and opportunity to students from all sectors of the state’s diverse population, as well as from other states and countries, and to offer excellent programs of teaching, research, and service.

Enhancing its historic strengths in agriculture, natural resources, engineering, mathematics, and natural and physical sciences, Mississippi State offers a comprehensive range of undergraduate and graduate programs; these include architecture, the fine arts, business, education, the humanities, the social and behavioral sciences, and veterinary medicine.

The university embraces its role as a major contributor to the economic development of the state through targeted research and the transfer of ideas and technology to the public, supported by faculty and staff relationships with industry, community organizations, and government entities.

Building on its land-grant tradition, Mississippi State strategically extends its resources and expertise throughout the entire state for the benefit of Mississippi’s citizens, offering access for working and place-bound adult learners through its Meridian Campus, Extension, and distance learning programs.

Mississippi State is committed to its tradition of instilling among its students and alumni ideals of diversity, citizenship, leadership, and service.

College of Arts & Sciences

The educational mission of the College of Arts and Sciences is two-fold: to provide students with a liberal education which will facilitate intellectual development and stimulate a life-long pursuit of knowledge, and to give students an in-depth education in at least one specialized area necessary to prepare them for a career or for advanced study.

The College offers curricula in the fine arts, humanities, mathematics, and natural, physical, and social sciences. The curricula are designed to introduce students to the basic methods of inquiry in diverse disciplines, to develop their analytical abilities, to improve their skills in writing and speaking, and to broaden their perspectives on humanity and culture in the natural and technological worlds. Additionally, they provide intensive preparation in one or more specific academic disciplines.

A liberal education attained in this context should ensure that graduates of the College have gained an understanding and appreciation of human culture. They should have examined the social, historical, political, philosophical and economic dimensions of the human condition and humankind’s perception of the world as it is expressed through the arts, language, and literature. They should have learned the use of quantitative and scientific methods and should have participated in the universal quest to comprehend natural phenomena and to utilize this knowledge beneficially and ethically. For more information about the College of Arts and Sciences, please go to https://www.cas.msstate.edu/

Department of Sociology

The mission of the Mississippi State University Department of Sociology is to integrate our research, service and teaching into a holistic educational experience, as suited to the land-grant mission of a research-intensive university. We provide a high quality undergraduate education to students majoring in criminology, social work, and sociology within the liberal arts education mission of the College of Arts & Sciences. Our graduate programs train sociology students at the master’s and doctoral levels, integrating students into academic research. We foster an intellectual environment for professional growth and development that prepares students to be critical thinkers with strong communication skills for use in the global environment, preparing them for careers and/or graduate studies.

The Department of Sociology resides within the College of Arts and Sciences, although its members have historically carried out research and service through the Mississippi Food Insecurity Project, the Social Science Research Center, Nsparc, Southern Rural Development Center, Crime and Justice Research Unit, the National Research and Training Center on Blindness and Low Vision, as well as other research entities. The Department offers the B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees in sociology, B.S. in criminology, and the BSW in social work.

The Department has developed longstanding emphases in rural sociology, community development, criminology, social demography, and social inequality. The Department is one of the larger concentrations of sociological expertise in the Southern region as evidenced in the number of graduate faculty, the enrollment of graduate students, the placement and success of doctoral graduates, the number and frequency of publications, the level of funding for grants and contracts, the facilities, and other infrastructure for sociological research and education. We have a concentration of research expertise and programmatic activities focused on Mississippi and the Deep South broadly. In the area of learning, we embrace the two-fold mission of the College of Arts and Sciences with sociology squarely within the liberal arts tradition.

Social Work Program
The mission of the Social Work Program is to educate undergraduate students for generalist social work practice framed by an understanding of the history, purposes, and philosophy of the profession. The curriculum is grounded in the liberal arts perspective and embraces social work knowledge, skills, and values.

The mission of the Social Work Program is congruent with the missions of the University and the College in that it seeks to offer excellent educational opportunities in instruction, research, and outreach, while fostering a commitment to the lifelong pursuit of knowledge.   Completion of supporting foundation courses
  Completion of all social work courses

All social work courses must be completed with a minimum grade of “C”, excluding Introduction to Social Work SW2313, which must be completed with a minimum grade of “B”.

Field Practicum

The field practicum allows students the opportunity for theoretical application in a structured and educationally directed environment. The field practicum experience affords students the opportunity to target mastery of all component behaviors across the various dimensions of learning. For the MSU Social Work Program, the field practicum is determined as the ultimate pedagogy. All social work majors are required to complete a minimum of 450 hours in an agency setting.

The field practicum is the equivalent of 12 semester hours. In addition to hours spent in the agency setting, students are required to actively participate in the field seminar that meets recurrently throughout the semester while enrolled in placement.

Students are required to complete registration (including payment of tuition) prior to entering placement. Malpractice insurance is required by social work students prior to entering the field practicum.

Each student and Field Instructor will be provided access to the Field Practicum Manual prior to the beginning of the field placement experience. The Field Practicum Manual is a detailed resource concerning the field education experience outlining responsibilities of the student, Field Instructor, and the Field Coordinator, as well as detailing various requirements and recommendations.

Other Relevant Courses

In addition to the liberal arts foundation core courses, and in keeping with Mississippi State University's educational objective to communicate effectively, all students must complete a computer literacy course, public speaking, and a writing course. The Department of Sociology is fortunate to have its own computer lab for student use. The program does offer some courses online.

- Computer literacy course
  Each student is required to complete a course in computer literacy with basic concepts of computing using large-scale and microcomputers. This includes: introduction to operating systems commands, applications software (word processing, spreadsheets, communications, etc.) and rudimentary basic programming.

- Writing course
  MSU requires a junior-senior writing course as a specific course offering. The MSU Social Work Program fulfills this requirement with SW 4713: Senior Seminar. The Social Work Program believes that writing serves as an impetus to clear-thinking, more critical analysis, more precise interpretation of assessment, and increased self-awareness. Because social work is a professional degree, it is imperative that social work students are trained to effectively communicate. Writing across the curriculum enhances preparation for practice and is therefore found throughout all the courses. The social work curriculum typically maintains a minimum of one major writing requirement in each course with numerous minor writing assignments.

- Distance Education/On-line learning
  The Social Work Program does offer several courses via distance learning. These courses are designed to assist students who are pursuing the Bachelor of Science in Interdisciplinary Studies degree, although social work majors may take the courses. The distance education courses can be helpful to students who have gotten out of sequence from regularly scheduled social work courses or those who choose to take a small number of social work courses via distance education.

At this time, the following courses are approved for offering via distance education:
- SW 2303: Social Welfare Policy I
- SW 3003: Populations at Risk
- SW 3013: Human Behavior and the Social Environment I
- SW 3023: Human Behavior and the Social Environment II
SW 3033: Seminar in Resilience
SW 3043: Military Social Work
SW 4533: Substance Abuse and Addiction in Social Work Services
SW 4643: Social Work Services in Schools
SW 4653: Social Work with Family Violence

These courses are not typically taught via distance education the same semester that they are offered in the classroom. Social work majors are urged to take as many classes as possible in the classroom rather than via distance education.

SOCIAL WORK ADMISSIONS AND ACADEMIC GUIDELINES

A student may declare social work as a major at any time in his or her academic career. There is a formal admission process into the program. Some upper division courses are restricted to students who have been admitted to the program.

The purpose of the admission criteria and academic guidelines is twofold:

1. To allow the student opportunities to examine one's motivation and interest in social work as a career; and
2. To assist faculty in assessing strengths and weaknesses of prospective students so that appropriate professional and developmental advising occur early in the students' curriculum.

Social Work Admissions Requirements

While students may declare social work as a major at any time in their academic career, there is a two-level formal process for matriculation through the social work major:

1. Admission into the social work program; and
2. Admission into the field practicum.

Criteria for Admission into the Program

1. Have a cumulative GPA of 2.0;
2. Complete two of the following social work courses with a minimum grade of “C”: SW 2303 Social Welfare Policy I, SW 3003 Social Work with At-Risk Populations, and SW 3013 Human Behavior and the Social Environment I;
3. Complete SW 2313 Introduction to Social Work (including 30 hrs of service learning experience) with a minimum grade of “B”;
4. Complete an “Application for Admission” including three references on the designated program form and participate in a personal interview with the Social Work Admissions Committee.
Admissions Process

Students will be provided admissions applications via email or the application may be downloaded from the departmental website at https://www.sociology.msstate.edu/undergraduate/social-work/academics/. Typically, applications are due approximately April 1st or due November 1st with admission interviews toward the conclusion of the semester.

The personal interview is conducted by a team from the Social Work Admissions Committee led by a faculty member and may include an alumnus representative, field instructor, adjunct faculty member, and/or social work student. The team may recommend admission or may deny admission.

Appendix B includes the Application for Admission and Appendix C includes the Recommendation Form.

Appeals Process

A student denied admission to the social work program may appeal to the Social Work Program Director. The Program Director will offer the student a plan for remediation, at the completion of which the student may again apply for admission. The Program Director may support the denial of admission. In some cases, the student may additionally be terminated from the major. In such cases the student may appeal this decision to the Sociology Department Head and then to the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Criteria for Remaining in the Program

The criteria for remaining in the program include:

1. Maintain an overall GPA of 2.0, with a 2.5 GPA for all social work courses.
2. Must earn a minimum of a “C” in each social work course.
3. Continue to demonstrate an aptitude for a social work career.
4. Adhere to all academic expectations of the university and the social work program.
5. Adhere to the National Association of Social Workers Code of Ethics.

Criteria for Admission into the Field Practicum

There must be a minimum 2.0 or “C” in each social work course with a minimum GPA of 2.5 in social work as well as an overall GPA of at least 2.0. Prior to admission to SW 4916 and SW 4926, the field practicum, all courses must be completed. Exceptions are rare and are evaluated on a case-by-case basis. Students must enroll in SW 4713: Senior Seminar, the semester prior to entering field practicum.
Program Retention Guidelines

- Student Conduct

Mississippi State University recognizes students as adults who are expected to obey the law and the rules and regulations of the University, to take personal responsibility for their conduct, to respect the rights of others, and to have regard for the preservation of State and University property as well as the private property of others. Some aspects of misconduct which are unacceptable and which subject the student to disciplinary action may be found by accessing https://www.policies.msstate.edu/policypdfs/91100.pdf

Students may not violate any announced departmental or college rule relating to academic matters including, but not limited to, abuse or misuse of computer access or information in any academic exercise.

For more specific information related to academic misconduct, please access https://www.honorcode.msstate.edu/policy/ and click on the PDF link “View the current MSU Student Honor Code”. This includes information about offenses, sanctions, and the appeals process. Academic programs can impose additional sanctions in addition to sanctions imposed by individual faculty or the Honor Code Council.

Instances of academic misconduct represent behavior that is of an especially serious nature. Sanctions assigned for academic misconduct should convey the message that this type of behavior serves as a destructive force within the academic community. However, a range of sanctions can be employed in order to strike an appropriate balance between sending a message of accountability and enhancing a student’s moral and cognitive development. The Honor Code Council is empowered with assigning sanctions that are outlined within Mississippi State University’s Policies. These sanctions include separation from the institution, probationary status, and documentation that a violation has occurred. In addition, the Honor Code Council is also empowered to assign appropriate academic and/or educational sanctions based upon the specifics of the incident. Examples of appropriate academic sanctions include receiving a failing grade or other grade penalty for the course for academic misconduct.

There may be additional consequences for a student within their academic major based upon an involvement in academic misconduct. Students are encouraged to discuss their involvement in an academic misconduct situation with the Program Director or faculty designee. While this list on the website is not designed to be exhaustive, it demonstrates the wide range of sanctions that can be considered in cases of student misconduct.
• Dismissal Policy

The faculty of the Social Work Program has a duty to the social work profession to make a reasonable effort to assure that graduates are academically, emotionally, and ethically prepared for the demands of professional practice. Therefore, any student who displays inappropriate behavior as described in the NASW Code of Ethics or serious enough to jeopardize the student’s educational program and/or causes serious questioning of professional aptitude, may be terminated from the Social Work Program. These violations include but are not limited to the following:

- Failure to meet the stipulated minimum grade point average;
- Behavior judged to be in violation of the NASW Code of Ethics;
- Academic plagiarism, lying, or deception on any documents associated with classes, the program or the field site that has been confirmed by investigation through established university procedures;
- Unresolved personal issues and/or psychiatric disturbances that, in the professional judgment of the program faculty, may impair the effective and ethical quality of services to future clients;

Problems identified will be investigated by the Social Work Program Director. Alleged problem(s) can be presented by faculty, staff, field instructors, or other students. Identified problem(s) must be presented to the student and the director in writing. All information relevant to the student’s evaluation should be as thorough as possible, including the specification of the sources providing the information.

In the course of investigating, the alleged violations outside evaluations, assessments, and/or opinions from university and/or external professionals may be required. If necessary, the program will secure the written permission of the student to seek relevant information. Failure to grant permission may result in dismissal from the program.
The social work program director, the student, and his/her advisor will evaluate the allegation(s) and attempt to craft a resolution of the difficulty. If related to academics the Academic Coordinator may be included; if the nature of the issue is professional or emotional the student may be appointed a designate faculty advisor. Recommendations will be one of the following: 1) the student will be encouraged to continue in the program; 2) the specific problem will be identified and the student will be advised concerning necessary corrective action; 3) the student will be required to withdraw, either indefinitely or temporarily. A written plan will include a statement of the specific problem, the period of time for correction of the behavior or the period of time for withdrawal before the student can re-enter the program. The student and the social work program director must sign all plan(s).

Students may appeal the decision(s) made by the social work program director and/or faculty that affect the student’s ability to pursue or continue in the program through the normal channels and mechanisms specified by the University. Appeals of admission/continuance decisions may be initiated by contacting the Sociology Department Head.

The additional university representative’s (Academic Coordinator or Faculty representative) role is to ensure that the student is aware of the process and the procedures. The representative is expected to be available at the various stages of the evaluation and appeals process, providing relevant information as requested. The representative is a source for the student to consult regarding his/her rights and options.

Transferring credits into MSU

Mississippi State University does accept course credits through transfer from other accredited universities and colleges; credits must be consistent with the curriculum and will not be accepted if these courses are vocational or remedial in nature.

The Social Work Program will accept transfer credit hours for required social work courses. Students must provide a syllabus for each course for potential transfer. Transfer students may declare social work as a major at any time, but must apply for and be granted permission to the Social Work Program. Please see specific transfer guidelines below:

- Transfer from Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) Accredited Program
  - Courses must be similar in content and credit value to the course(s) for which they are being substituted.
  - Student must have completed the course with no less than a "C" final grade, with the exception of SW 2313, in which a minimum grade of "B" is required. Students must provide a syllabus for each social work course for potential transfer.
• Students transferring from an accredited social work program must provide a letter from that program confirming that they left the program while in good standing.

• Transfer from Non-Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) Accredited Program

  ▪ Social work courses accepted under this category will be granted on an individual basis, after careful evaluation and agreement by social work faculty. The content and credit value must be similar to the course(s) being substituted.
  ▪ The student must have completed the course with no less than a "C". Students will be required to write a summary of individual learning activities.
  ▪ The qualifications of the instructor who taught the course will also be evaluated

• Credit for Life Experiences

  ▪ Academic credit for life experience and previous work experience shall not be given, in whole or in part, in lieu of the field practicum or of the courses in the professional foundation areas.
  ▪ It is the belief of the social work program that practice wisdom does not replace one's theoretical understanding of social work practice, but that the effective practitioner will blend both practice wisdom and theory.

Academic Expectations

The completion of the Social Work Program is more than receiving a diploma. It represents the beginning of a professional practice. Professionalism begins with the academic performance of the social work student. The following guidelines are stated to assist the student in understanding the importance of professional behavior early in one's career.

• Accept Responsibility for Learning

  Students are expected to utilize the library and participate in the library's planned tours and explanations of library services.

• Assignments

  Unless there is undue hardship, all tests and assignments are due at the time that the instructor indicates. Please consult the instructor about policy and documentation.
• Attire

The Social Work Program does not impose a dress code for students. However, whenever you represent the program outside of the University, as when completing service learning, field practicum experiences, or attending a professional conference or meeting, professional attire is required. Similarly, professional attire is required for some campus activities, such as when guest speakers are visiting and during admission interviews.

• Audit

In order to receive a “pass” grade, the student is expected to attend all classes. Unexcused absences and tardiness are not permitted in audited social work courses. Please contact the instructor prior to the class period if an emergency arises.

• Class Expectations

Students are expected to:
- Attend all classes
- Be on time
- Be prepared
- Participate in class discussions and activities
- Complete assignments as assigned
- Comply with each instructor’s policy regarding electronic devices.
- Comply with each instructor’s attendance policy.

• Confidentiality

It is the student’s responsibility to maintain confidentiality in all practice, volunteer, and classroom learning experiences. Pseudonyms will be used in all papers and reports.

Sharing about experiences for the purposes of learning should be done in accordance with standard 1.07(u) of the National Association of Social Workers Code of Ethics.

• Email

Students are expected to check their University email accounts for correspondence concerning university, departmental, programmatic, and course information. When sending email to faculty; students are expected to remain professional and regard such correspondence as an opportunity to practice appropriate professional documentation.
• Reading Days & Final Examination Schedule

The Examination Schedule starts with a Reading Day. The purpose of the Reading Day is to allow students time to study and prepare for final examinations. No mandatory activity, meeting, assignment, or event for a class should be scheduled on this day. These restrictions apply to all Mississippi State University classes (e.g., face-to-face, online, etc.). All examinations shall be held as specified on the examination schedule except classes meeting fewer than two lecture hours per week and/or certain other classes which may be given at particular times by special permission from the Provost and Executive Vice President.

• Student Compliance

Students must comply with all relevant regulations of the University. Please refer to University Policies at https://www.policies.msstate.edu/

ADVISING

Overview of Advising

Students entering MSU may declare social work as a major at any time in their academic career. Upon declaring social work as a major, each student will be assigned to the Academic Coordinator for academic advising. All program faculty are committed to being available for professional and developmental advising. Students are encouraged to seek out professional and developmental advising, as needed. The Academic Coordinator or program faculty may recommend professional and developmental advising by the Program Director, Field Coordinator, and/or a relevant program faculty member based on the particular advising need(s). Although students bear ultimate responsibility for their academic program and scheduling, students are encouraged to work closely with program faculty and staff. Interaction with relevant faculty and/or staff is viewed as a partnership to complete the goal of further assessing the student’s interests, skills, and motivation to complete the social work degree. It is the joint responsibility of the student and the relevant faculty and/or staff to give appropriate feedback in assessing the student’s strengths and areas of concern.

STUDENT INPUT

The Social Work Program recognizes social work students as adult learners who have valuable feedback to offer the faculty for the growth of the Social Work Program. Student input is obtained via faculty evaluations, faculty hiring, student field practicum, student advisory council, and exit evaluations.
Exit Evaluations

Each student will complete an evaluation near exiting the program which includes content about the field practicum agency, the agency Field Instructor, the faculty Field Coordinator, and the MSU Social Work Program. This evaluation is completed using the Student Evaluation of Learning Experience. Additionally, each student will complete an oral exit interview with the MSU Social Work Program Assessment Coordinator and a written component to the exit interview (questions emailed to student) prior to the oral exit interview.

Faculty Evaluation

All students enrolled at Mississippi State University have an opportunity to evaluate faculty on a standardized faculty evaluation form each semester. The final evaluations are completed in each class and are kept confidential with the results being computer-generated. These evaluations are returned to the faculty to utilize in strengthening content, teaching, and learning methods to facilitate learning more effectively.

Hiring of Social Work Faculty

As social work faculty positions become available, students are asked to provide input. Students have opportunities, both formally and informally, to meet prospective candidates. Students' comments are reviewed and considered by the departmental search committee.

Social Work Student Advisory Council

The student advisory council serves as a liaison between faculty and students to enhance cohesion of the Social Work Program. It consists of five (5) upper-division social work students*, who display leadership skills and a commitment to the social work profession. The council composition consists of representatives of the student body in terms of diversity i.e. race, gender, age. The Student Advisory Council maintains an oversight function with the Association of Student Social Workers (ASSW). At no time will a student advisory council member hold office in ASSW.
